WHY ALCOHOL INK MARKERS?

Alcohol-based inks lay down vibrant, smooth areas of color. Blend them to create beautiful shading and subtle watercolor effects. Unlike water-based markers, they won't damage the surface of your paper. They'll write on nearly anything and are made to last. They're ideal tools for artists and crafters of every stripe and any experience level.

Please note that these high-saturation markers may bleed through certain types of paper. We recommend protecting surfaces below by placing an extra sheet of thick paper beneath your work.

An Oral History

Preserve Your Family's Story

By Paula Spencer

Chronicle your parent's story and family history details before it's too late! Use this book as a conversation guide between parent and adult child to record fading memories, or fill out yourself, or ask your parent to do so. Tips on recording a life story include providing memory cues, such as perusing old photos together or visiting a hometown. The attractive keepsake volume is organized into eight sections filled with interactive prompts around the themes of back stories, milestone moments, everyday life, celebrations, reflections, advice, and such relevant facts as family medical history and life wishes.

Paula Spencer is a family-life specialist, baby care to elder care, and the author of Peter Pauper Press's Like Mother, Like Daughter Journal (page 95) and Surviving Alzheimer's. She has been an editor and writer for major magazines and books, a Woman's Day columnist, and coauthor of health books with doctors at Harvard, UCLA, Duke, and Arizona State. She's a 2011 Met Life Foundation Journalists in Aging Fellow.

Never a Dull Moment

Stuff My Kid Said & Did

"Are we taking the stairs or the alligator?"

"Drinking soda is like your leg falling asleep."

"Fog is clouds that have fallen down."

"Never lick the kitty."

"You make me smile all over my face."

Kids are unpredictable, hilarious, imaginative, and tend to grow up way too fast. This keepsake journal is for your kids' almost-too-brilliant moments: the parts of their lives you want to capture and remember forever (or help them remember when they're older). Prompts on each page allow you to jot down who said or did what, and where and when it happened. Reach for this book whenever your kids discover something new about the world, when they do something funny, or when they say something profound. Your family motto may be "never a dull moment," and this journal will help capture for posterity all the moments that shine.

Dear Santa, I Know It Looks Bad but It Wasn't My Fault!

By Norma Lewis • Illustrated by Olivia Beckman

Scalawag has been an outstanding cat all year (at least, according to him). Any troublesome incidents that Santa may or may not have heard to the contrary can be fully explained. So, he sets out to write Santa a series of letters in anticipation of Christmas, clearing up any potential misunderstandings, and of course, expressing his Christmas gift wish—a Catman and Robin video game! But when one incident involves the Christmas tree catching on fire, and Miss Violet (Scalawag's ever-loving, nurturing, and forgiving caretaker) ending up in the emergency room, Scalawag gets a new perspective on things. He writes one last letter to Santa asking him to forget about the Catman and Robin video game, and instead asks him to bring a different gift. And it's one that expresses the true warmth and spirit of Christmas.

Norma Lewis lives in Grand Haven, Michigan, with a cat coincidentally named Scalawag. He did not inspire the cat-astrophic shenanigans described in this or any other book, but she knows he could and lives in fear that he will. This is Norma's fifth book for children.

Olivia Beckman worked for years in graphic design and magazine layout until one day her little inner bird whispered to her that it was time to focus on the type of illustration that inspired her to study the Fine Arts in the first place—children's art! She feels very lucky to illustrate children's books—and especially loves drawing people doing everyday activities, animals with fluffy fur, and mischievous cats.

PETER PAUPER PRESS

OUR COMPANY

In 1928, at the age of twenty-two, Peter Beilenson began printing books on a small press in the basement of his parents' home in Larchmont, New York. Peter—and later, his wife, Edna—sought to create fine books that sold at “prices even a pauper could afford.”

Today, still family owned and operated, Peter Pauper Press continues to honor our founders' legacy—and our customers' expectations—of beauty, quality, and value.
